The SMART Rider Drills

A QUICK NOTE BEFORE WE BEGIN:

Hey there, SMART Rider! I'm thrilled you've picked up this guide and are ready to embark on a journey of learning, growth, and skill-building. Before we dive in, I want to take a moment to share an important message. The strategies, drills, and techniques you'll find in this guide are designed to enhance your riding skills, improve your safety, and make motorcycling even more enjoyable. However, riding motorcycles comes with inherent risks, and practicing these skills requires focus, preparation, and, most importantly, personal responsibility.

By following the exercises and advice in this guide, you're acknowledging that you assume responsibility for your safety and the decisions you make on the road or during practice. Always wear appropriate protective gear, ensure your motorcycle is in good working condition, and choose practice environments that are safe and controlled. While I've done my best to create a comprehensive and practical guide, real-world riding conditions vary, and it's up to you to adapt what you learn here to your unique situation. Ride smart, stay safe, and let's get to work building those skills!

Recommended Gear

Helmet:

I recommend a full face, DOT motorcycle at minimum. If riding a bicycle or ebike, a bicycle helmet is sufficient.

Gloves:

I recommend actual motorcycle gloves, but if all you have is mechanic gloves, that works. Be aware that motorcycle gloves offer more protection in a fall.

Long Sleeve or Jacket:

Motorcycle jackets offer impact protection and abrasion resistance. Using a long sleeve shirt or light jacket will suffice until you get a motorcycle jacket.

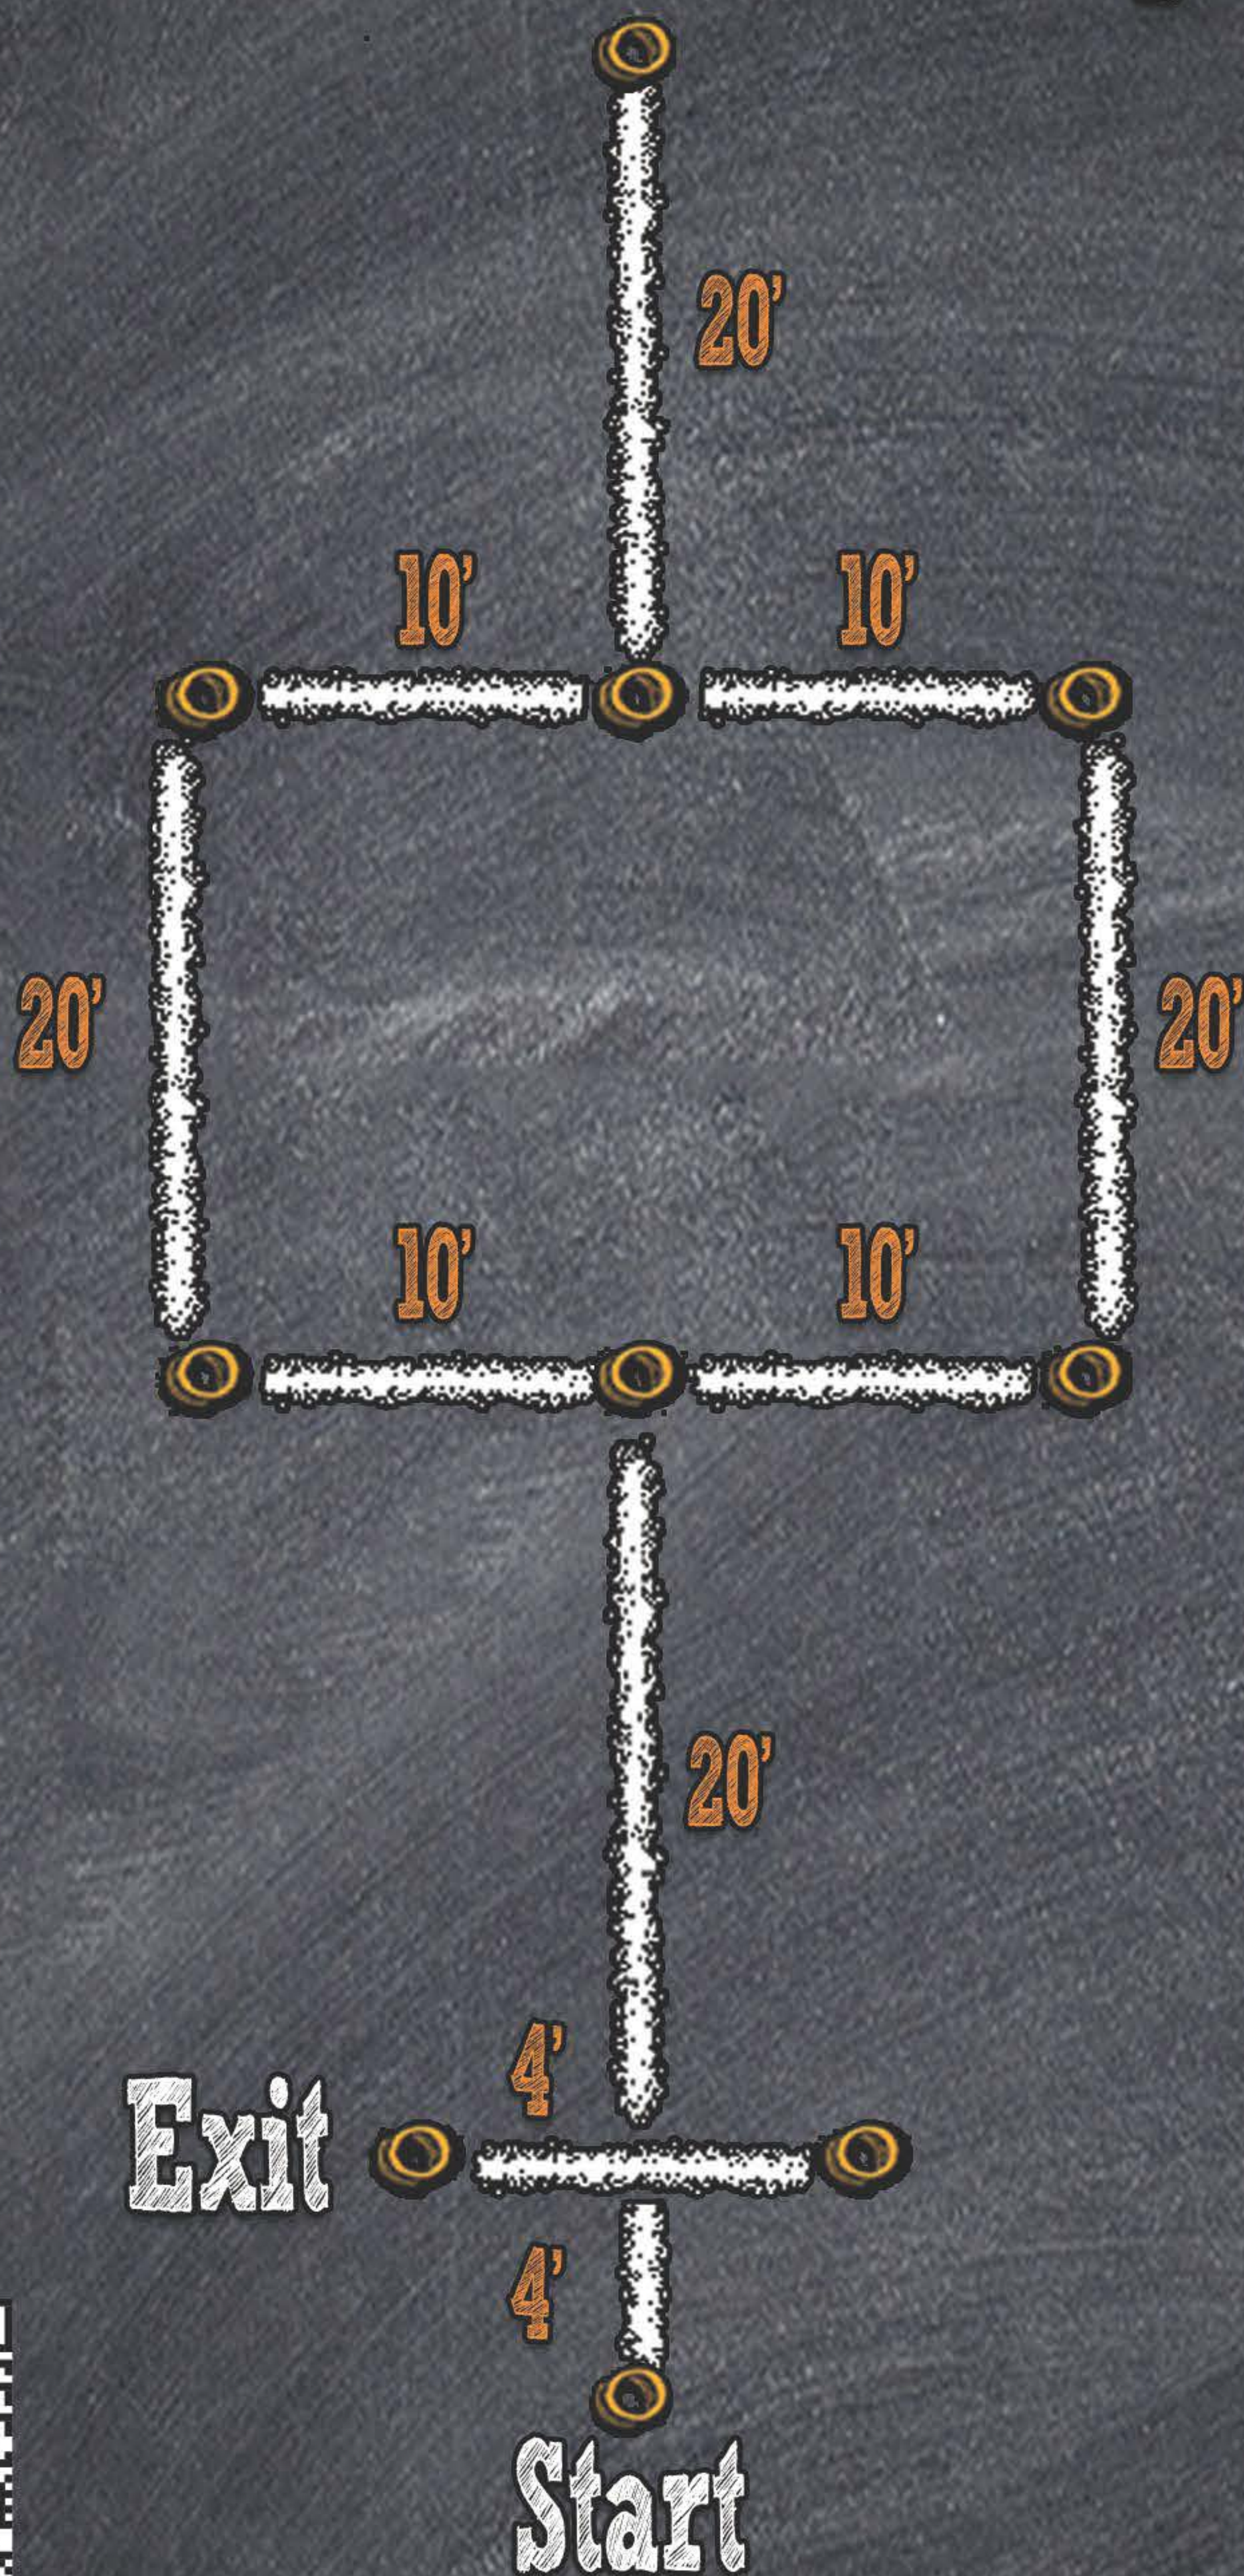

Pants & Boots:

Long pants like jeans and above ankle boots work for the games. As always, getting full motorcycle gear is recommended.
